

Career Counselling & Awareness Program February 24, 2026 – Admission India

The Department of Tourism and Travel Management, ICFAI University, in collaboration with Admission India, organized a career counselling and awareness program for tourism students at Building 4.

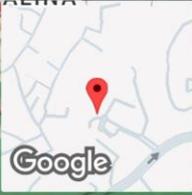

The main purpose of this program was to help students understand their future career options after graduation, especially in the tourism and hospitality sector. The expert from Admission India explained how tourism students can work, study, and build careers abroad, which is becoming very important in today's global tourism industry.

Students were introduced to international opportunities in countries like Mauritius, France, and Thailand, where there is high demand for trained tourism and hospitality professionals. The speaker clearly explained diploma-oriented and skill-based courses, paid internship opportunities, and scholarship options, which can help students gain practical exposure and international experience.

Special emphasis was given to how practical training, internships, and global exposure improve employability in tourism and hospitality jobs. Students were encouraged to plan their careers early, choose the right courses, and develop the required skills to succeed internationally.

An interactive Question and Answer (Q&A) session was also conducted, during which students actively raised queries related to overseas education, internships, scholarships, and career pathways. The expert addressed these questions in detail, helping students gain better clarity and confidence regarding their future plans.

The program was attended by faculty members of the Department of Tourism and Travel Management, along with representatives from the Placement Cell Committee, ensuring academic guidance and placement support for students.
